TUESDAY MARCH 16th

#2

Beth

Hello!! yes let's move this bad boy over to whatsapp

11:38

lol sibling the best

11:39

approved

Uni have just suspended all teaching, with a view to moving it online next week (following 4 weeks of no lessons because of strikes). Not feeling too locked down though because England seems to have this 'soldier on' attitude

11:40

But i'm goood - toilet roll is an issue, so I've gone Thai

11:41

How are you?

Anyone else been watching the new (and final) series of This Country?

11:42

Robbie

the UK policy is one of spreading infection and raising resistance, while trying to manage flow to hospitals. which is pretty insane. they are keeping schools open as a "tap" to keep infection spreading (so resistance increasing). This is with the intention of avoiding a second wave (which us what is expected in Italy etc once people get bored of lockdown).

12:57

so if you are allowed to move around it's because you are being used a disease spreader. And if old people are not being told to isolate yet, it's because the government thinks they will bore of it in two weeks when the infection peaks.

12:58

so if you don't like being used as either a future resistant person or as a disease spreader, social distance now.

12:59

the good news is that once you get it, and if you recover, you won't spread it to others once your symptoms lift.

13:00

before that happens, best not to see mum in person, for example.

my friend's dad is in intensive care on a ventilator because of pneumonia caused by coronavirus.

13:01

the country has only 500 ventilators and is asking companies to mass produce them. pneumonia stops your lungs from being able to diffuse oxygen into blood so you need a ventilator to do this, otherwise you suffocate.

13:02

yeah, watching this country. stoked for new episode this eve.

13:04

also very sad to discover that new light detective drama format "mcdonald and dodds" on itv was only 2 episodes.

13:05

Tom

18:57

Very good summary of the uks position,

Has it changed now though?

xxx

Robbie

well the worst case is delaying lockdown and then instituting it at a later date. i think that's why they are calling for it in all but name, leaving it to leaders and individuals to decide.

19:43

It's a really weird fudge.

i don't get it at all.

19:44

i mean, if you think you're strong it's likely you will develop immunity without symptoms, as you do with winter flu.

that might already have happened.

FRIDAY MARCH 19th

#3

Beth

I've been firmly social distancing since Monday. But all my housemates still have to go to work so I'm going a little stir crazy already and feeling pretty anxious about where we go from here, because I'm worried that I've still seen lots of people in pubs etc... v thankful I have Bernie to take for walks and hang out with though!!She's fucking loving the lockdown because I'm home all the time. How are you guys doing??

Friday March 19th

Maybe we could do a group Skype with mum on Sunday?? Xxx

20:32

Tom

20:53 Yeah let's do a VC

20:54 We use zoom at work, it's like Skype

I've not really left the house, but not really on purpose

20:55

Seems pretty batty in the UK, no-one seems to know they ought to be staying away from each other, no testing, etc

Maybe that's just the impression from here

Robbie

OUP is still operating at full "Irish stew and mash" capacity

20:56

Tom

What does that mean??

Robbie

not to mention salad bar, jacket potatoes, crusties quiche.

20:57

*crustless

Tom

Ohh that's on the menu

Haha

Robbie

coffee bar

20:58

but no one is there or very few

I'm in the pub but only because it's empty.

Robbie

yep

Tom

Kitchen fully staffed

Robbie

no. only to retrieve hardware

Tom

Are you going in?

Beth

The stew is the hardware...?

Tom

20:59

Aha. And stew?

Beth

iMacs and stew

Robbie

iMacs

Beth

Mmmm that's the stuff. I'd like one of them. I work in 3 different stations throughout the day, I follow the sunlight round the house

21:00

Robbie

getting my standing workstation installed at home

Robbie

21:01

for my sciatica

Beth

21:02

UK is bonkers. My housemates works at a special needs college, and even though the learners aren't coming into the education bit anymore the staff are still being made to come in full time, they're being made to reorganise the college and do loads of admin that doesn't need doing!

Or at least, needs doing but can wait

That's poop that you have sciatica and all the painkillers are being panic bought!

Tom

I'd love some standing, some stew, some sunlight and sciatica. All I got is stress! Actually one of my projects got cancelled cause of covid and its taken some of the pressure off..

21:03

Robbie

i have three boxes of amitriptyline for neuropathic pain.

but I'm not taking them

Beth

That's a good night in

Tom

21:04

Aie, I don't know what that is but it's got a long name, you must be in a lot of pain

How long have you had it??

The sciatica

21:05 Not the amitriptyline

Beth

I'm sorry about all the stress Tom!! I'm in a similar boat. I have so much uni work to do, but the social isolation is really unhelpful for productivity I'm finding??

Tom

Amytrumptoninglean

Robbie

the lower back pain was worse. i couldn't stand up.
went to a&e but couldn't walk back to car. only lasted for a week. now it's just sciatica. a bit of ouchy tightness in back of leg.

21:06

Beth

You know the painkillers are strong when it's tough to pronounce the name/they sound like a private school girls name. Sorry your back is being so crap rob.

Did they say what caused it?? Or did it just happen?

21:07

Desks?

Robbie

i was on codeine

21:08

yeah basically just weak core

21:09

i reached up to get my box of electronic cables out of the cupboard.

and something went twang and i fell on the floor.

21:10

*fell

Beth

That's dramatic! Scary aye

21:11

You have to strengthen your core? Exercise ball and a balance beam?

21:12

Doesn't really feel like we're sibling the best right now! We're all coated in sciatica and stress. Look after yourselves ❤️

Robbie

21:14

I'm not that stressed

i could do with more stress tbh

more challenge

Beth

Tom could give you some I imagine? We could do an ailment exchange

Spread them out a bit. Add a bit of variety to our woes

21:16

Tom

the lower back pain was worse. i couldn't stand up. went to a&e but couldn't walk back to car. only lasted for a week. now it's just sciatica. a bit of ouchy tightness in back of leg.

Robbie 19/03 21:06

Fuuuuck!

21:17

That's intense, who put those cables up there anyway?

I've got a sack of sugar cubes for a core as well

Need to get crunching

21:19

Actually I saw a physio b4 leaving the UK, he talked all about the 'deep stabiliser muscles' between vertebrae. If you don't get those firing first apparently then any core strengthening stuff just strains your back etc

Beth

Why are we only learning this now! Wtf are they, and how do I find them? My core of beer and almond croissants is great for cushioning the fall but I'll like not to have to deploy my buttery airbag

21:20

Tom

Apparently you have to trick your brain into using them, you can't just tense them and go.I had to sit on an exercise ball in front of the mirror and raise a leg. If I tipped to one side I had to get angry and try again...

21:25

Could be quackery

Beth

21:26 Was the anger part of it?

Or was that just for you to spice things up?

Robbie

Actually I saw a physio b4 leaving the UK, he talked all about the 'deep stabiliser muscles' between vertebrae. If you don't get those firing first apparently then any core strengthening stuff just strains your back etc

Tom 19/03 21:19

yeah i got that talk too

21:27

I'm gonna get a balance mat or sth

i got an nhs physio referral in less than a week before this coronavirus thing messed with that

Germany's coronavirus anomaly: high infection rates but few deaths -

06:55

It won't let me read it because I'm not subscribed. Is it saying that lots of Germans have it but aren't dying because they're testing lots of people?

Tom

You live on the Xmas house Rd? 09:44

I gifted you the article

Hm guess didnt work

Beth

No, but it's very similar and just down the road from there!

10:29

weird, the link to the article mentions gifting and redeeming but it takes you to a subscription page. Annoying, was it free to gift?

Anyone spoken to Dad in all this corona stuff? I guess he's been social distancing for a while now.

Tom

I talked to him a couple days ago, first time in a while. Seemed fine, normal. Reckoned there wasn't much of it about on Cornwall. Sounds doubtful to me..

10:31

Beth

10:33 Hmmm yeh I think that's probably bollocks

10:34 I don't know how he'd know that

But as long as he's not using this time to switch things up and make a load of mates he should be ok

10:36 Simons lost 2 out of his 3 jobs in all this gubbins & because he's 0 hours/freelance he's not getting paid. Bit of a stinger. Just got removals left, but it seems people are still moving house!

(He'll get them back, they just don't have any work on RN)

10:38 Anyhoops, mums up for Sunday video chat 😎 she wants to know what time? X

Robbie

18:58

Tom

here's the recipe you didn't ask for: grease a mug, crack an egg in it, whisk a bit, put in microwave, put plate on top of mug, microwave for 30 sec, remove and flip, microwave for a further 20 sec, add ketchup and nandos

Robbie 03/04 18:57

19:01

Very good! We just need a microwave...

| what is kernig?

| Robbie 03/04 18:58

19:02

Surprisingly hard to translate

A bit like 'seady' or 'cerealy'

Beth

Tom are hobbits of the hob nob vibe?

23:52

Tom

23:53

They are Coincidence?

Beth

Rob, would the microwave egg work with Siracha? My housemates colleague was worried we didn't have access to eggs in the middle of the city so gave us a shit load from her chickens so we've got a bunch to get through Coincidence? Conspiracy? Cahoots?

23:54

Mum wants to do about zoom conference call this weekend. When's good for you guys? Xx

#15

SUNDAY APRIL 4th*Robbie

i said any time really 00:03

i thinka more rounded flavour would be better for the eggs. the sweetness of the ketchup and leminyness of the nandos sauce wad spot on. 00:04

it had a bit of a currywurst sauce feel

Beth

00:08 Absolute vibes

00:10 That's breakfast done

I've neither of those sauces though so will have to improvise

00:11 Not hobbits for after

But we did get a pudding with our takeaway called "hanky panky" that I haven't had yet

Looks a lot like chocolate lumpy bumpy

I can do anytime too xx

Robbie

but honestly i keep saying anytime as this is the only thing i have on the sooner we fix a time the sooner we can fix a time for everything else...like getting covid in co-op.

10:50

Tom

We have had a tick crisis to deal with. Thought those nasty buggers would have taken a break with this covid going on...

10:54

Beth

I've already got my covid for today. From Tesco, the park & my housemate is a care assistant and one of her patients tested positive at the end of her shit yesterday... 🤢

12:40

Mums suggesting 11am tomorrow? 12:41

So you've got a whole day to collect your covid 12:43

Oh what a fucking nightmare - cat or human tick crisis??

Just the one? Or a class full? 12:44

Tom

12:52 Tomorrow at 11 is good :)

Beth

My friends and I split the cost of a paid for account so we could do a quiz uninterrupted so I'll send the link 😊 going to go back to free in the next few days so might as well make the most

12:53

Cat! There were loads of little ones that just ran off (el set them on fire) but one huge one stuck in her neck!

MONDAY APRIL 12th

#23

Beth

Wow. Germany's the best 08:36

Fish and beer on quick delivery 08:37

Priorities

So our housemate is an nhs care assistant and her ward got emptied 2 days ago so now she's being redeployed to work in one of the covid wards

08:38

So I've spoken to mum the last couple days and she's going to move properly into jem's and use the office there for her work and I'm going to Burford Road. Because we now have a much higher chance of getting it, it'll be a nightmare being isolated here with the dog, 5 housemates and no garden. Hope everyone's ok with this? It's definitely not been an easy decision.

08:41

Robbie

yes i think it's alright

mum seems ok about it.

Beth

We live with 3 key workers as well so me going to faff about in the park everyday (which is full of families just having fucking picnics) with the dog puts them more at risk too and they're very needed atm

08:42

If you're sure? I can never tell if she's actually alright with something or if she's just being a selfless mum?

08:43

Being in a city during covid is so great & convenient, if you don't have to isolate, but then it's a pooper Cos O space.

08:45

Robbie

09:00

well it's not ideal for her but she's aware that it has been a luxury so far having two houses.

09:01

the pooper is that Chloe and her boyfriend are there too.

09:02

our two bourgeois neighbours here are clearly having visitors.

09:03

so it's possible mum will feel she can spend some time at burford road after a few weeks and y'all don't have it.

Beth

Are they seriously?! How do you know? That's just very not ok

09:05

Robbie

in the other hand one of my best friends' dad just died from it yesterday so don't fuck about.

Beth

Oh fuck it happened yesterday? I'm sorry that's really awful. How's your friend doing?

09:06

Yeh I think no to mum coming round. Hard against visitors

Trying as much as possible to not bend the rules.
Because it's just not fair on so many people

Robbie

don't know she's up in London. he's been sick for about two weeks. after that long you start having strokes because of the inflammation.

Beth

Shit

09:07

Was he on a ventilator?

Robbie

yep

Beth

That's really awful

I feel really bad that mum has to stay with Chloe and her boyfriend. Mum says good things about the boyfriend, but I don't know how much I believe her, maybe she's just trying to find a positive spin on things?

09:11

Robbie

well who knows. she's spending a lot of time the anyway.

09:13

Beth

Yeh. I just need someone to tell me I'm definitely doing the right thing by going there

09:15

But nobody can I guess because there isn't a right thing?

<https://www.newyorker.com/humor/daily-shouts/what-shakespeare-actually-did-during-the-plague>

09:41

Robbie

09:44 in oxford they are giving free accommodation to nurses at risk of infecting their household.

09:45 can your nurse mate get this in sussex?

Beth

09:46 Oh really?! Thanks! I've sent it to her and will look into it

09:47 She's not a nurse though, she's a care assistant but that does mean she deals with a lot of bodily fluids

The fact we live with 2 other key workers might help her case?

Robbie

09:49 yeah possibly

Beth

Mmmm google can't tell me anything 09:51

I think it's more for nhs staff who live with vulnerable people 09:52

Robbie

10:04 right

Beth

Not fit young healthiest

Healthies*

Tom

| so it's possible mum will feel she can spend some time at burford road after a few weeks and y'all don't have it.

Robbie 12/04 09:03

This would be OK if you have seen literally no-one and not become ill for 14+ days?

11:05

Would it?

Will Simon stay with you?

11:06

Anyway, it sounds fine. Only problem would be mum being more at risk if living with 3 people all going out to work and whatnot. But since she's there regularly anyway, doesn't seem like the risk increases.

11:08

Try not to worry about it anyway, you're obviously trying to do the right thing!

11:09

Robbie

12:00

Jem is furloughed so not going out

Beth

Thank you, this made me feel better. And now we're here I feel better about it. I'm still worried mum did it just to be nice, but I also think she's probably fed up of me asking if she's sure it's ok.

16:58

But yeh I just didn't/don't know what the right thing to do is, and nobody seems to know so nobody can just tell me what to do. But I feel a bit better being here and hopefully tomorrow once I'm more settled I'll feel more sure. Going to walk and wave at mum through the window at some point

17:00

It's only got a boring working title atm

Needs jazzing up

And think it might actually have changed slightly since I've done more reading 12:01

I've got a project with a short essay, an essay and a dissertation all going on at the same time. But just focusing on the essay for the time being 12:04 right yeah. you're one of the people who don't like now sussex is a morgue

Saturday April 17th

Beth

12:09

Haven't had teaching for 10 weeks & there's no more in term 3 anyway because it's just dissertation and lost 3 weeks last term because of strikes too. This year was not the year to do a 1 year MA

Robbie

hmmm. do another one?

12:15

Beth

12:16

I really need a job

That I don't hate

Can't keep spaffing all this cash on certificates

Robbie

yes you can!

12:20

Beth

12:28

Fresh out of student loans. I don't want to actually have to PAY for one

#26

SATURDAY APRIL 17th

Tom

Would they let you have a 6 month extension or something??

22:08

To make up the time lost?

Beth

Naa. They've given us 2 week extensions for term papers ana dissertations - but the library is shut until further notice 🚫 but the lessons missed won't ever get rescheduled because lots were during strike & that would break streak protocol, also if we got 6 months extra it would overlap with the new term in September and they'd have to fund lots of students' visas again. It's all a complicated mess really. Lots of people are fighting to get some of our tuition fees back but it's not going very well

17:28

Mum wants to zoom tomorrow, are you guys free?

17:29

But yeh I'm cross with the chancellor and the other big wigs who are being massive poos about it all, but they have implemented a "no detriment" policy at least which means that I can't get lower than my first term average which was a distinction so that's a relief at least.

17:32

Robbie

17:34

distinction yesss

Beth

With distinctioooon

Robbie

go for a hat trick?

Beth

Yes! You scoring the big finisher? 17:35

What times good for people to zoom tomorrow? Mum wants to do it in the morning xx

19:08

Tom

But yeh I'm cross with the chancellor and the other big wigs who are being massive poos about it all, but they have implemented a "no detriment" policy at least which means that I can't get lower than my first term average which was a distinction so that's a relief at least.

Beth 18/04 17:32

You can't get less than a distinction? As long as you hand your work in?

20:54

That's some consolation at least, doesn't make up for not getting the teaching and facilities you went there for but its something

20:55

Zooming in the afternoon sometime?

Beth

Because I got a solid distinction in everything in first term, as long as I don't fail the rest of my hand ins, then I can't get below distinction overall, so that's definitely reassuring that my grade will be worth it, but I really don't feel like my overall knowledge has been able to develop enough/set me up for job as learning is so condensed into a year and we've lost so much of that. Especially as I chose a practical module, which we only got 3 weeks out of 12 and can't do that from home obvs. But for now I'm just relieved about the grade 🙌

23:04

Maybe I'll explain more tomorrow, it's all a bit longwinded to explain over text

23:05

Mum said can we do 11 as she's due to cook in the afternoon?

FRIDAY APRIL 30th

---

Beth

Dads 70 in 2.5 weeks...

13:58

Should we start thinking 70 worthy presents??

What about some nice quality fish cooking/smoking equipment? Nicer than what you'd buy for yourself?
And it can be delivered. Unless you guys are already sorted? X

15:05

Or some cheese/food based goodies with a promise for actual presents in person?

16:53

in the future?

Robbie

is we can find a smoker that is very very easy then yes absolutely

if not he probably wouldn't use it?

17:12 dad is so hard to buy stuff for

Beth

<https://www.souschef.co.uk/products/cold-smoker>

<https://www.souschef.co.uk/products/camerons-gourmet-mini-smoker> cold one hot one look pretty simple? But you're right, if it's too much faff he won't use it

17:13

Robbie

18:14 looks natty but probs too much effort required sadly

tbh he doesn't want this but i think he should have a proper camera so he can take proper pictures of the sunset

18:15 not those janky compact camera pics.

Beth

Sunrise*

Robbie

But he seems content so doesn't matter i guess

| Sunrise*
| Beth 30/04 18:15

right

Beth

But maybe that's just because he doesn't want to buy himself a decent camera?

But would enjoy being gifted one?

Then maybe an online course of how to properly use it?

18:16

<https://www.finecheese.co.uk/cheese-gifts/curly-whirly-bundle>

18:23

or this pointless contraption

<https://www.finecheese.co.uk/cheese-gifts/birthday-cake>

18:24

lonely cheese cake

18:25

sold out

Robbie

18:26      lol but you need that specific cheese

Beth

even more pointless then

Robbie

| Then maybe an online course of how to properly use it?

dad is basically an art grad at heart. he knows how to take pictures, he just doesn't care. which is fine!

15:44

Robbie

lol amazing

15:47

maybe my desire to walk around with a light meter around my neck is just me wanting this stopwatch back.

15:48

Tom

19:50

Haha what were you timing?

Anything

Dad gave me a stovetop smoker a few years ago

I've used it once :_-/

:_-/

19:51

It's good though

He really is hard to buy for

Maybe doesn't matter he won't want / use what he's given!

Or... Some kind of themes gift assembly, he likes giving gifts like that

19:52

Themed

Beth

Hahaha right yeh! There is no perfect present for dad so maybe it not worth thinking too deeply into?

Tom

Actually I think the camera is a good idea. But he seems so proud of using his crappy point and click!

Beth

That's a good shout. He'll enjoy the collective theme more than the actual present

19:53

I think he enjoys being able to show people his pics and then show off that he used a tiny simple digital camera

Tom

19:55

70th theme?

Beth

Some ytterbium perhaps

#61 [image]

2020_05_01_195629_3A657EB226BDBD56A875.jpeg

19:56

Tom

Good find!

Is it toxic?

Beth

Good question

19:58

When you click on shopping it's all in little viles

So probs yeh

19:59

Maybe we send an ok present as a place holder & WhatsApp call him for a little birthday drink & snack and tell him the actual present isn't covid-delivery available and we'll save it for when we can visit?

20:01

Buys us some time

Or is that a cop out?

Dad says he's not bothered about birthdays but he's told me a bunch of times how disappointed he was that for his 40th birthday he just got a shirt and went for an early meal to pizza express (or similar)

20:02

So maybe he does care

well pizza express is out so maybe just get him the shirt.

Robbie

true. and they do shirts.

11:34

Tom

11:35

I wasn't aware of the 40th pizza express grudge

Beth

I wasn't born yet so maybe he told me because I wasn't complicit. I also think the story was because he found it funny In hindsight how because mum was 32 she perhaps didn't understand that 40 was a big one?

11:39

I dunno can't remember

It's definitely a story he's told me though

12:30

14:12

18:08

Remember that place that we had the BBQd fish from in Newlyn? The Mackerel Sky bar, They're not open on Mondays but they're going to deliver Dad dinner on Sunday 17th at 8pm. Going to keep it a surprise, i'm just going to tell him not to eat and to be in the house. Wanna split it?

22:19

Ok so fishy dinner is all ordered and paid for and it's arriving to dad on Sunday 17th at 8pm. I've text him to say "don't cook dinner on Sunday and be home at 8pm" - I'll phone him to make sure he got my text as well. The bill came to £22 but I rounded it up to £25 to say thanks for delivering it. Would you guys mind sending me £8.30 each please? I also ordered dad a Ralph Steadman print of Freud - two of his fave boys. It cost £26 including delivery. You don't have to split that if you don't think it's a good idea, but if you wanna swing me another £8.60 for that feel free 😊

22:20

Hoping to get through to the Newlyn cheese shop tomorrow and maybe then can poke their heads round to Jelberts for us.

22:23

Also it's nice to be down the road from friends again even if we can't see them. I definitely miss the garden and the fields though! Rob are you staying there? Or just a pick up some of your stuff & pat the cat visit? X

I'm OK, glad to have a day off tomorrow. Working a lot but not feeling too sure of what's going on. We're going to see Els parents this weekend, apparently it's safe enough.

I'll get my thinking hat on over the weekend for presents...

20:54 Do you have Monzo?? I don't really use PayPal

That's good that it's safe to go and see them. Will be nice to get away and have a change of scenery for a bit!

That's good that you're getting work, but understandable about the stress & not sureness. I'm feeling very similar about mine. Hopefully we can zoom soon! I feel bummed out that it's going to be so long until I can visit x

And these!

Robbie

you know the road from curbridge that comes out at the burwell/deer park roundabout? and there used to be like a plant nursery/garden centre thing just before the roundabout coming form curbridge?

21:02

this is where that was 21:03

Tom

21:08

Oh yeah, that's a huge development. A new road being built there that somehow contributed to the Burford Rd development going ahead

Check out the planning shit, very drole, and quite depressing!

Robbie

looking at it now! much mirth

21:13

Tom

21:17

Yeah, I find everything he posts (assuming it's a he) very familiar, whether i actually know it or not. Every UK Town is filled with these kind of turds!

amazing! don't know how they found those other photos. i tried but failed!

09:25

they have a real way with words. i just knew they looked a bit off, wasn't really sure they were that reprehensible.

09:30

Tom

Ha, yes. Quite 'robust' criticism. I'm the same, buildings like that often just looks weird. Nice to see someone explaining why, although doing it a bit brutally. Strange proportions, unusable or awkward spaces.

09:59

Robbie

10:45 plenty of comments. this is very pleasing.

Tom

It's going down a treat!

12:03

Beth

15:40 You've gone viral (sort of) yeah I'd buy that 21:22

i dunno

14:33

maybe if you could stand by a window and use the consistent?

14:34

android you can set the camera to take a picture when you say "cheese".

or you can pay for an app and change the permissions using the command line debug mode so you can trigger a photo by pressing the button on your headphone cable before you realise that.

Was actually very illuminating but the writing style was weird, the author sounded crotchety

11:18

Anyway, just checked him out online. He's a physicist and 'professional inventor'

11:19

He was so concerned that people can't do maths anymore, because of calculators, that he invented a calculator that won't tell you the actual answer unless you work it out yourself first and your guess is clever enough!

Robbie

Haha, just had another look...

I thought it said "does everyone have a sound" 13:28

Was trying to work out what they were going to do with the sound, like maybe it's a surprise birgday for Jesus, all the other guys are hiding in cupboards with an item that produces a funny sound, and the scene is from earlier when they were planning the surprise...

I'm paying for a storage room over here. In theory could consolidate it with your stuff but probably too much of a mission to move it all back to Witney...I've got various junk in mums shed, if she wants that to disappear it could go in storage. Mostly I think it's stuff that ought to go in the bin though!

Dad made me a hot water bottle cover from a sock that nanny knitted. He's added a string so it lines up with my womb for period pains and to make it hands free. I think he should patent it. oh can't remember. but i do remember that i fell for a phishing email a week later pretending to be from hmrc or whatever.

so be careful of that.

I just had it after years of temp agencies putting me on the emergency tax band. had to submit years of p60 forms. did you get yours out of the blue or what?

22:39

Beth

Totally out the blue. From when I was teaching. I think because I only worked half the tax year or something I ended over paying? I don't really get it. I just know it's good news.

This is what life would be like if you somehow became permanently contaminated with a psychedelic substance. Quite hellish...

07:10

Windows 7 was pretty good though

Robbie

15:09

i was looking for parody videos about this but instead found a LOT of sincere footage of actual Windows 7 launch parties, which are all incredibly forlorn.

15:11

One of an old woman on a cruise ship learning how to "pin an application to the taskbar" in front of about 50 other old people.

I mean honestly. leave them alone.

Tom

oh wow

i can confirm that pinning an application to the taskbar is an underwhelming experience

15:12

Robbie

15:13

lol. try doing it on a cruise.

remember how we kept having to get mr appleyard to fix our computer because it kept getting stuffed with viruses?

Tom

sort of. he was probably putting them on there

Robbie

15:14

why was that so hard? why didn't we just store or files elsewhere and just reinstall windows. we lost all our files eventually anywhere.

all our sound recordings using that weird thin pc microphone we had.

Tom

we had some great ones. if you talked really slowly then sped it up you sounded like a baby

15:15

Robbie

your impression of tv wine critic Jilly Goolden saying "the aroma of hollyhocks whoosh up the nose".

Tom

haha, classic. was all of that lost then ? I know we dont have it but i dont remeber the losing of it

15:17

Robbie

15:20

i think the hard drive died at some point.

Tom

ah yeah, i guess thats what used to happen. if you werent storing stuff elsewhere. eventually the computer died and that was the end of it !

15:21

Beth

15:24

I feel left out. I don't remember any of this

Robbie

that was really a bad time for computers. i remember inter explorer would just abort without warning, Hotmail would time out when writing an email and you'd lose everything, constant error alerts that made no sense.

15:27

that's why people of mum's age are so bad with computers now. not because they didn't grow up with them but that when they did they were a complete hellscape.

15:28

now they're legitimately great, except for windows legacy cruft that makes it look like windows 95 still for some reason.

15:29

Tom

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EtSM2F\_LQGc

15:32

this is what microsoft promos look like now the comments are full of microsoft promo stans and everyone is pointing out how the ux of the actual programs doesnt look anything like this 15:33

and that the video explains nothing about what Yammer is or does

i have no idea

Robbie

15:53

lol we have yammer. it's actually quite good. it's just facebook for corporations. it's only for people inside the corporations to hobnob and announce stuff and virtue signal.

15:54

it's just in the browser. it's actually quite slick.

15:55

this animation is really incredibly nice. also windows do employ some good designers now. unfortunately they were all idiots two years ago so the version OUP is stuck on looks like a poo with a headache.

15:56 and the amount of legacy cruft and fragmented codebase means the ui team that leads these animations doesn't actually have the power to change OS. it's more of a statement of intent.

Tom

Cool, there's a flight we could get that lands at 11.20 I think. Minibus, is Vale coming? They'll be how many of us, 4? Are we worried about sitting too close together? I expect a car would be fine but if a minibus is an option, why not? I don't mind :)

Robbie

apparently so we are chianti region now. not sure I'm a fan.

Tom

Very Hannibal lector

We're going to head to Bristol on the Saturday morning 09:38

09:44 Rob, I'd like to get in on this storage unit action

09:50

I mean, I'd it works out, we could get a lift, otherwise under own steam. We might rent another car...

*if

Oh god. Motor skills lacking this morning

Robbie

yep all good. let's drive from heathrow together tho.

09:51

Tom

09:52

Yes, I just realised the flight I saw to London landing at 11. 20 is going to bloody Stanstead :(

There is one to Heathrow that's real early though so can still Mett you there

Meet

Robbie

ah no. that's annoying. I'm going to book collection for midday

10:14

Tom

Ja, so I think we'll fly over on tue and stay in an airport Hotel. We could even look into picking up the car and picking you up at the airport? As long as you can be named driver still

Robbie

10:15 concord hotel is good if you hey runway view

but pricey though maybe

Tom

I usually use enterprise, shall I give them a bell and see if we can do that with the car?

Robbie

10:16 yes please

also check how long the fines are for late delivery

up to 2.5 hours

because that makes a big difference for me

thanks!

got to go!

Tom

OK, I thinks it's good to just book it with plenty of time for return, shouldn't make it too much more expensive.What time on Wed do you need it until?
Shall I just book it and sort it out with mum if it sounds good?

10:18

Robbie

10:26 nah i cam book

till 3:30 wed latest, 26th

Monday August 16th

Tom

10:29

Sounds like, to have 2 drivers, I need to pick it up then we need to go back to an enterprise somewhere (Heathrow or anywhere) and add you on..... But if a mish maybe! guess just go ahead with your plans, let us know where you're picking up the car and we'll meet you there about midday :)

10:30

*bit of a mish.Autocorrect is killing me today

10:34

Sorry if I've made it more complicated!

Robbie

nah i think all good. I'll book as normal and see if adding a driver isn't too expensive. they usually charge excessive amounts for that.

11:52

but i will probably book with enterprise or alamo.

11:53

Tom

12:42

No need to add me as a driver, unless you want me to drive. Enterprise are good because they don't need proof of address. Although maybe they're all like that these days...I think alamo and enterprise might even be the same company ..

12:43

Anyway. Thanks!

Sounds like it's all worked out quite nicely. See you at the rental village

12:46

Can't find the concord Hotel...?!

12:55

What terminal are you landing at? I think we'll stay at the Holton Garden, terminal 2 and 3

Hilton

Christ

Robbie

don't know. 4? I'm Alitalia.

11:55 This is insane. Rome must be riddled with gout

11:56 I celebrated with orange wine and pretentious tapas.
Then just your standard pints

Yeh I spoke to him last week

11:57 That's a great pic!

11:58 Na you got my lil miscellaneous liquor celebration liquids

11:59 Which I haven't tapped into yet

Gonna make a night of them

Is Valentina staying in gout country when you come back?

Robbie

yeah she is staying here. 12:23

I don't know how Romans do it. People are pretty trim here.

Can't say the same for Napolitans thought.

though 12:24

How is dad? Much the same?

Beth

Dads honestly thriving. He got tipped off that there was an old(ish) lady in Newlyn who'd recently rescued a greyhound but the lady can't walk much so dad went round there and offered to walk her dog every afternoon. Moll and the dog ended up getting on well so he now walks it everyday. And then he started going in for a cup of tea after the walk and the dogs would share a bone. Then they worked out that they trained as art therapists together! They were in the same cohort of 6 in the 80s

Robbie

what the fuck?? 12:29

that's amazing and a little improbable

Beth

It's mad

12:30 Lol you reckon she's having him on?

I thought the twist was going to be that Moll and the other dog used to race together or were in the same kennels 12:31

It's a crazy coincidence

So he's very happy because I think he's been really enjoying telling people that story. Given him something to ride off for a while till the next story 12:32

Also I think he's enjoying people helpful and taking a second dog out

Robbie

that's honestly the most amazing thing I've heard in a while 12:33

if not ever

do you think it might be a ruse? 12:34

Beth

12:36 I really hope it's not

It feels so wholesome to be a ruse

Robbie

so two people in the same remote cornish village both have greyhounds and trained as art therapists and were in the same class of 6 40 odd years ago?
12:52

amazing really

Tom

19:13 That is amazing! Very improbable

They didn't remember each other at first?

I guess the kind of people who study art therapy in St Albans in their 40's end up with greyhounds in Newlyn in their 70's...?!

19:14

Robbie

21:29

yeah perhaps all 6 are hanging out in newlyn.

You still have a year away from The Man!

01:14

Tom

08:17

Beth

Stockwell. The tenancy is only for 6 months, but it's one of my best friend's old rooms and she's really enjoyed living there so it sounds like a good option for the time being.

20:13

well done for getting home beth! 10:47

the wisdom in italy is that people travelling home get a rapid test and isolate from family for around four days. For whatever reason the UK government isn't promoting this.

10:49

In Italy you can get a rapid test in a pharmacy for 20# 10:50

20€

Beth

10:54

They're not promoting that because it means the whole country would need to get a test today because their narrative until 4pm yesterday was "Christmas as usual"

Beth

Hi. So just thought we should coordinate our international communication with mum & dad on Christmas day. I think dad is pretty bummed that corona means none of us could visit him this year. It's just me and mum here so i'm really flexible but I imagine your days' might be a bit more packed. What times are good?? (try not to use up all your material for parent 1). Also, there's a Mulvey Christmas quiz on zoom at 5pm and potentially a virtual game of intelligence at some point if you're interested. A bit bleak and falsely positive, but it'll do.

11:58

Robbie

23:56 yo hey

Beth

Yeh a magnetic pencil holder, although I didn't know it was magnetic when I bought it... apologies about that 20:48

Glad you've been cooing! It's very cooable. I like it's

Beth 24/12 20:48

Beth

You can get a really big one with equally teeny eyes and mouth but it wasn't very postable and I wasn't sure how pleased you'd be if I got that one.

20:51

I've just had a christmassy trip to witney community hospital 🙃

22:14

Tom

22:16 That sounds bad, are you OK?

Beth

Sooo most likely a bad bladder infection. Can't rule out kidney but because I don't have fever/vomiting it's probs not. Got some big boy penecillin to take for the next week. They didn't make me pay for the meds so that's a nice extra Christmas pressy. X

Beth

Thank-you!! Sorry I ducked our earlier, things were hotting up in the kitchen. Who won??

Tom 25/12 20:45

It was unclear because we didn't know how to account for the fact 3 people would be missing points because they made their own rounds. I'm just happy I beat Stephen on the news round.

23:37

Not that I thought he was the toughest contender, but potentially the smuggest

mexico to help with the conservation of turtle eggs.
they failed to work out where they had to go so instead ended up taking a riverboat tour of the filming locations for Rambo 3, a film that Valentina hasn't seen.

Beth

18:18

Is Italy claiming it as theirs?

Robbie

Even though it literally means "from Umbria"

Tom

you're from Cheadle but you want to start an Italian style sports brand. What do you do to make it more italian? You name it "from Umbria"

18:59

Robbie

that also explains the obscure Italian brand "cheadle". 19:07

actually Umbro is from Wilmslow, i made a mistake.

MONDAY JANUARY 11th

#211

Tom

did you see graham's email? 12:23

i think its a nice out-stretched hand 12:24

i dont know, what do you think?

I havent read the Sunderland memoir yet

"strange emotional configuration" 12:25

Robbie

13:11 i think it's wonderful (the email).

i dont receive dad's family emnity, though I understand it I think.

13:13

I agree, it's only strange from the outside. a bunch of reasonably similar laid back people never talk. I guess that's strange. It could also describe the mulvey configuration, just not the bit about laid back people.

13:15

dad feeling wronged by his parents and Graham's subsequent family narrativising probably leaves too bad a taste for him to want to play too much of a part in any reconfiguration.

Beth

I like it! I appreciate that he acknowledged the strange emotional configuration which is readily ignored but very present with the Mulveys

17:03

I think it's strange too. From in and outside. 17:04

And a shame, but the outstretched hand is perhaps a nice move towards us all being less crap 17:06

I don't really know enough about the details of dad feeling wronged & the graham hoo ha to fully understand the lack of effort in maintaining broader family relations. But I'm at the next funeral/wedding/90th birthday we'll all say "why don't we see each other more?!" and then do nothing about it again 17:08

I just replied to Graham with my number, i presume you guys did too?

Remember that gargoyle in the garden of that cafe in mousehole that looked just like graham? 17:09

Robbie

yeah. wonder if that photo would break the ice?

Beth

Hi Graham, I don't think we've spoken since you got pissed at your son's wedding and told us that dad said you were autistic and your wife was so drunk she was rendered incapable of putting her shoes on. Good to hear from you again! We saw this gargoyle in 2017 that we thought looked just like you. lots of love.

SATURDAY JANUARY 23rd

Beth

Are you feeling ok Hun? You've hardly touched your egg on a stick

00:13

Tom

OK... Time to get your little man arrival day guesses in... 😊😊😊😊

09:52

Due date 7th March

10 points for the correct day... 100 mega bonus points for the right hour...

09:53

Beth

14:48 ooooooo the stakes are high. I really want those mega bonus points

14:49 what's yours and el's guesses?? being in close proximity to the little guy you might have helpful insights?

I reckon late. but how late...?

14:50 Mum taught me recently that a baby can be maximum 2 weeks late and no more which was brand new information for me.

14:51 remind me of el's birthday again please?

Mother's day is 14th...

these are all factors

Standlake fete would love this game

Robbie

Imma go 10th, and a nice convenient time, noon. 14:55

Beth

15:02 I feel like births happen at night

Robbie

i know but i don't want to stress tom out 15:16

so I'm hoping for day 15:17

Beth

so you've only gone 3 days late... 15:48

this is really hard 15:50

16th at 1:30am 15:51

Robbie

i just think of they know first children are late germans will accommodate that in the estimate already 15:52

Beth

don't they just do a flat 9 months?

Robbie

if so I'd imagine the parents would be in a position to set the due date much earlier... 15:55

16:34      Valentina says March 18th. 5am.

16:35      Tom, have you considered "Otto"?

It doesn't really fit, and means "8" in Italian.

Beth

I immediately trust Valentine's answer. But I'll stick to my original answer cos that's the game 16:36

I like Otto! And Ollo!

Tom

16:48      Good guesses all round

Lots of points up for grabs!

16:49      I'm not sure what our guesses are exactly

Els parents are guessing earlier than due date

Robbie - they go a flat 9 months, which is exactly 40 weeks

Otto is nice actually

16:50 Not sure if we'd considered it yet...

Robbie - they go a flat 9 months, which is exactly 40 weeks

Tom 23/01 16:49

16:51 No, I meant it's *actually* 40 weeks, which is *not exactly* 9 months

But it's the same the world over

16:52 If he's 2 weeks overdue they induce

But could be less / more depending on mothers health / age, baby's health, how the placenta is getting on. Etc

Beth

How is the placenta getting on? 17:01

18:50

check out this video i found when researching how to fill the gaping holes I left in the plasterboard in the shed last week.

18:51

it is a - i think - german student housing company telling students to borrow a pot of paste and paint from the front desk when they move out so they can repair the holes they made in the wall when hanging pictures.

18:52

it is honestly so humane i could cry.

tom, could one say this is typically German?

Tom

00:13

09:29

Quite good advice on filling the holes though

09:30

It's true if you rip them out it makes a big mess but I'm not sure if you hammer them in you wouldn't get a big dent in the wall...

I recently had to do this in our old apartment

I ripped them out and repainted with a little roller over quite a bit of the wall, thin coat

09:31

Was invisible in the end but was quite a mish

I had the exact same brand of paint, if it was different might have stood out...

Beth

Is there a time where you guys would be around for a phone with dad? He regularly/casually (seriously but expressed casually cos of the Dawson's strange emotional configuration) mentions to me that he's sad he doesn't get to talk to you more (he's aware this is also his fault) so I think he'd really enjoy it

10:30

Robbie

11:00

i gave him a call yesterday but he didn't pick it up. i said I'd try again today. can i try that and we group call next week sometime?

11:01

a single cover for a band here, and all uni stuff. most urgently an essay on "design and value", whatever that is.

Beth

| i gave him a call yesterday but he didn't pick it up. i said I'd try again today. can i try that and we group call next week sometime?

| Robbie 31/01 11:00

Ah nice, hell really like that. I'd say now/lunchtime is best. He gets back from his morning walk about 9, goes out again at lunch for a go round the block then at 3ish for a longer one to the park then he's in till bedtime

11:11

Robbie

when is bedtime?

11:12

I called around 8:30pm

Beth

Mmm he'll probably be nodding off in front of tv then

Daytime is best

Or dinner time

11:13

I phoned at 6ish last week and that seemed a good time

11:14

I either do 11ish or 6ish

Going for Bedtime poos and wees is probably like 9ish

Tom

11:16

How often do you tend to call?

Beth

Mmmm every other week?

Tom

11:17

Does dad call you sometimes?

Beth

Mum once a week dad every two?

Yeh, but I think only because I called him for a while so now he knows I'm up for it

11:18

Tom

Mum once a week dad every two?

Beth 31/01 11:17

You calling or them calling? I'm just curious, don't mean anything by it

Beth

Bit of both really. More recently mum calls me but it used to be more equal. And I reckon in general I call dad more than he calls me

11:19

Sorry I've potentially over simplified things, I wasn't suggesting that i'm right & a good child and you need to phone them more often. I phone dad so regularly partly because he's looking after Bernie for me and I think there's more complicated reasons why mum phones me so much - I just mentioned it because dad's said he wants to talk you both more a couple times now and I know that he can be quite crap with communication so sometimes needs a bit of a nudge.
Xx

11:41

Robbie

11:43 well i live with mum so we talk almost every day.

Beth

You win there

Note

This book is a record of images, video, and other media files exchanged in a WhatsApp chat group between Sunday March 2020 14th and February 23rd 2021. The images have been pixelated to protect some details and to serve as memory aids for the original participants.

The chat and its media attachments were downloaded from the WhatsApp web app using the Backup WhatsApp Chat Chrome extension. The csv file containing the chat text was edited in Google Sheets to form an HTML file, styled with CSS, and transformed into pages using Pagel.js. The Fast Average Color plugin was used to colour the pages based on their image content. The text is set in Inter from Google Fonts.
